Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 11.—The remarkable spectacle was presented here of a retiring governor of but 38 and an incoming one of but 36 years of age when Governor J. W. Folk gave place to Herbert S. Hadley as chief executive of Missouri at 12 o'clock today.

For the first time in Missouri's history, a governor was inaugurated amid martial pomp and military glory, and for the first time since Jefferson City has been the seat of government the streets and buildings were profusely decorated in honor of the first republican governor in forty years.

Bands and military companies were here from St. Louis, St. Joseph and Kansas City, together with a host of party followers, who marched through the streets in the bitter zero weather to show their gratification at the new order of things in Missouri.

There were hundreds of strangers who came to see the inauguration who could not even get near the doors of the house of representatives, where the ceremonies of the inauguration took place.

Promptly at 12 o'clock the joint assembly of the two houses was called to order by Lieutenant Governor McKinley, and at 12:10 the gubernatorial party entered. Governor-elect Hadley on the arm of Governor Folk.

Almost at once Chief Judge Valliant administered the oath of office to the new governor, and as he answered "I do" to the question propounded, the governor's salute of nineteen guns was fired by Battery "A," stationed in the capitol grounds.

As soon as the enthusiastic greeting of the new executive had subsided Governor Hadley delivered his inaugural address, the substance of which follows:

Governor Hadley's Message.
In his message to the general assembly Governor Hadley starts out by saying that it will be his aim to continue to deserve the confidence and approval of the people of Missouri. It has been forty years since a republican was inaugurated as governor, but that political differences need not and should not interfere with the performance of official duties has been emphasized during the course of the last four years in Missouri.

Regarding home rule in the large cities, the governor says that the promises of his party and himself will be kept faithfully, but this means that the laws of the state, particularly the dramshop laws, will be enforced and not violated. The saloon in politics is thus referred to in the message:

The Saloon in Politics.
"It is axiomatic that to conduct a saloon is a privilege which the law confers, and not a natural right that the individual enjoys. And it ought to be accented, without question, that the saloons and liquor interests must obey the laws of the state, whatever those laws may be. So long as the state undertakes to deal with this traffic by regulation, and not by efforts at suppression, it should eliminate, as far as possible, the evils incident thereto. The active participation of the representatives of these interests in political affairs for the purpose of domination and control, constitutes, in my opinion, one of the evils incident to this traffic with which it is necessary to deal.

"It is, I think, the unquestioned sentiment of the people of the state that the representatives of these interests must not be permitted to nominate and elect our public officials for their own benefit and protection. And in order that this result may be accomplished, the brewer and the distiller should, by law, be strictly confined to the business the law permits them to conduct. When the brewer or distiller, or wholesaler of intoxicating liquors is permitted, directly or indirectly, to own or operate or control dramshops, then there exists a necessary combination of power that results in the injury of the business itself and inevitably tends to pernicious and dangerous political activity and influence. The evils incident to this condition are so many and so manifest that it is unnecessary for me to mention them today. Legislation striking at this evil was attempted by the last general assembly, but the law then enacted has failed to accomplish the desired result. I recommend, therefore, that you pass a law which will secure the complete separation of the brewery and the saloon, the one from the other.

Lid Clubs in the Cities.
"Another evil, which demands action upon your part, exists as a result of the enforcement of the law for the closing of saloons on Sunday.

NEW LAW MAKERS' GRIND

LEGISLATURE OF SOUTH CAROLINA
BEGAN ITS LA BORS TODAY.

"WET" OR "DRY" NOT PARAMOUNT ISSUE

For the First Time in Fifteen Years the Liquor Question Will Not Occupy Attention of the Solons.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 11.—The legislature of South Carolina began its law-making grind today. For the first time in about fifteen years, the liquor question will not be the paramount issue before the Solons, and they will have time during the session to consider other matters of importance.

Assurances have been given by the prohibitionists, who daily grow in confidence, that no effort will be made by them to have the legislature enact a new liquor measure, their preference being for an election next summer at which the people themselves may speak; so nothing along this line will likely be done at the session, beyond correcting such minor defects in the current local option law as have developed in practice.

Tax reform, compulsory education, mill and factory regulations and labor measures are among the matters that will occupy the attention of the law-makers.

Vice president—Will J. Crawford, of Sedalia.
Secretary—C. A. Pannoyer, of Hannibal.

About 125 Sedalians, including the Republican Flambeau club, went to Jefferson City this morning to attend the inaugural ceremonies of Governor-elect Herbert S. Hadley.

The train consisted of five coaches and was in charge of Conductor Hull. Owing to the scarcity of engines the train was delayed one hour in leaving here, departing at 10:30 o'clock.

Among the Sedalians to attend are: George Biehse, Joe Gold, D. C. Walker, W. H. Boult, George Eads, George Thompson, Henry Bryant, John T. Stinson, W. W. Blain, Fred Esser, J. W. McClain, W. B. Shirk, A. W. McKenzie and others.

HUMANITY RESPONDS

WOMAN'S FATAL BURNS

SISTER-IN-LAW OF CONDUCTOR
HARVEY J. SMITH, OF THIS CITY.

POURED KEROSENE OIL INTO THE STOVE

The Blaze Flashed Up and Set Fire to Her Clothing in Kansas City —Body to Be Brought Here for Interment.

Harvey J. Smith, an M. K. & T. conductor, was summoned to Kansas City yesterday by the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elmer Smith, a former Sedalia lady, who was written of as follows in Sunday's Kansas City Times:

"Mrs. Fannie T. Smith, wife of Elmer J. Smith, a painter, did not believe the fire was burning in her cook stove as briskly as it should when she started to prepare dinner last night at her home, 30 Lombard street, Kansas City, Kan. She poured kerosene oil into the stove.

The blaze flashed up and set fire to her clothing. The house also caught fire. When the neighbors ran in to extinguish the fire Mrs. Smith was dead. All the clothing was burned from her body.

Mrs. Smith was 32 years old. Besides her husband, a son, LaRue, 12 years old, survives. Elmer Smith is employed at the shops of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Co."

The body will be brought to Sedalia at 4:25 o'clock this afternoon, and taken direct to Crown Hill cemetery, where burial will be made.

SENATOR TILLMAN HEARD

Answered Charges of President Roosevelt Today.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—Senator Tillman's reply to the president's charges that he had exerted his official influence as a senator for his own benefit, to bring suit against the railroads in order that he might be able to purchase land held by the Southern Oregon company, was made in the senate today.

The gallery and floor of the chamber were crowded, many representatives having come over from the house.

Mr. Tillman said he supposed the fact that he had not hesitated to criticize and comment on the official action and utterances of the president had given him good cause to seek revenge.

"I was not aware," said he, "that those darts of mine had quivered in the executive hide and stung him so."

Mr. Tillman said the eagerness with which the president had given the press the papers in the case before the congressional committee had considered them indicates that Theodore Roosevelt enjoys to the limit the feeling of getting even with Ben Tillman, and lays on the big stick with the keenest relish, doubtless believing that the pitchfork has gone out of business.

Mr. Tillman says he not only courts the most searching investigation, but demands it. He declares he never sought to conceal his effort to buy land; that he had spoken to the attorney general about it, and explained to the agent of the secret service the whole transaction.

Mr. Tillman concludes: "I invite comparison of my private life and my public work as a man and a senator with Theodore Roosevelt, and I feel absolutely sure of the ground upon which I stand."

NEW HOOSIER GOVERNOR

THOS. R. MARSHALL, DEMOCRAT, WAS INAUGURATED AT IN-DIANAPOLIS TODAY.

LACK OF OSTENTATION AT CEREMONIES

A Reception and Ball Will Be Held in Honor of the New Chief Executive at the Executive Mansion Tonight.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 11.—Thos. R. Marshall, democrat, was today inaugurated governor of Indiana, succeeding J. Frank Hanly, republican.

The inaugural ceremonies were characterized by lack of ostentation, in accordance with the views on "Jeffersonian simplicity" entertained by the new chief executive of the Hoosier state.

A reception and ball will be held in Governor Marshall's honor this evening, at which Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of the late President Harrison, will be in the receiving line.

The principal business before the legislature is the selection of a United States senator to succeed Senator Hemenway, and the possible repeal of the present county option law regulating the liquor traffic.

The democrats have a majority in the house, while in the senate the republicans are in the majority.

POOR OLD GEORGETOWN

A TWO-COLUMN ARTICLE IN THE KANSAS CITY STAR IN RE-GARD TO PLACE.

TOOK OLD TIMES BACK HALF A CENTURY

Prophecy of the Late General George R. Smith, That Bats Would Roost in the Court House, Has Been Verified.

The Kansas City Star of Sunday had a two-column article by "The Circuit Rider" descriptive of Georgetown, Pettis county, that took old-time Sedalians back a good many years.

It told of the beginning of the town in 1832; of its being made the county seat in 1835; of its great growth until it became a place of nearly 2,000 population and a great trading center; of its being the home of Phillips, Vest, Heard, Hargin and other noted Missourians; of the refusal of the residents to aid the Missouri Pacific in 1860, feeling confident of securing the road without giving a bonus; of the founding of Sedalia by General George R. Smith, who gave vent to these prophetic words in regard to Georgetown: "You will all live to see the day when the bats and owls will make their homes in this court house and in your houses and stores, while a new and splendid city will grow up just beyond your suburbs."

The story then goes on and tells of the building of the Missouri Pacific to Sedalia in 1861 and Sedalia's soon forging ahead of Georgetown; of the removal of the county seat to Sedalia in 1865, and concludes with the following paragraphs:

Today Georgetown is politically a country voting precinct and post-office; commercially, a country crossroads trading place with one or two small general stores; judicially and legally, the seat of a country justice of the peace, and educationally, a place where there is a district school.

As one comes into Sedalia on one of the many trains and looks out of the car window the slow progress through the city to the depot allows the reading of certain big sign boards he sees at prominent street crossings and he reads: "Sedalia, Mo., state fair city; population, 25,000; temperate climate; excellent schools and the finest agricultural territory in the world. An ideal place to locate."

These signs have been up for some time, and however variant from exact truth in all respects their statements may have been at the time of their installation, they are mighty close to it now. And Georgetown had its opportunity to become all that Sedalia is now and, not taking it, caused its own downfall.

Georgetown now has a railroad and has had it since 1871. A branch line of the Missouri Pacific from Sedalia to Lexington skirts what was once its southern suburbs. It came too late for any resurrection. There is no Georgetown depot. The engine whistles, the brakeman calls out, "Georgetown," the train halts astride a country road and an old negro delivers a mail sack, receives one and "totes" it off up the road towards a cluster of trees, where train passengers may glimpse the roofs of three or four houses.

HIGH OUT AND STUBBS IN

LATTER INAUGURATED GOVERNOR OF SO-CALLED SUN-FLOWER STATE.

CEREMONIES WERE QUITE SPECTACULAR

Reception Will Be Given at the State House This Evening—Plans for Inaugural Ball Are Abandoned.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 11.—Governor Hoch, the country editor, chief executive of the Sunflower state, today relinquished the responsibilities and cares of his high office, and Governor Stubbs rules in his stead.

The inaugural ceremonies were of a spectacular character, consistent with the reputation of the state.

There was an automobile parade about Topeka, and the arrival of the hour set for ceremonies was announced by shrieking whistles.

Former Governor Stanley presided at the initiation of the new governor. Chief Justice Johnson administered the oath of office to Governor Stubbs, the only new state official.

Both the retiring governor and the new chief executive took advantage of the occasion to make a few remarks.

The proverbial pious tendencies of the new governor resulted in the abandonment of plans for an inaugural ball, but a reception will be given at the state house this evening.

SUIT FOR ACCOUNTING

W. R. Warner Brings Action Against
C. H. Rockwell.

Suit has been instituted in circuit court by William R. Warner against Charles H. Rockwell for an equal division of the Warner Wood and Coal Co., which is owned by the plaintiff and defendant, C. C. Lawson and H. T. Williams represent Mr. Warner.

According to the petition, the company was established on July 1, 1899, both parties putting up money for the establishment of the business.

According to the contract, the defendant was to be a silent partner, while plaintiff was to conduct the business at a salary of $50 per month, and after deducting the expenses for the operation of the company the profits were to be equally divided.

The plaintiff alleges he has a balance of $3,252.30 salary due, while defendant owes the company $890 of a $1,000 loan. The petitioner also alleges that the defendant drew from the company's money since the establishment of the business $971, which was more than his share.

FIRE AT "KATY" HOSPITAL

Hose Co. No. 2 Met With Mishap
Going to the Scene.

A negro porter at the M. K. & T. hospital, Broadway and Hancock avenue, was burning sulphur for disinfecting purposes in the colored ward of the institution at 2 o'clock this afternoon and placed a can containing the disinfectant on the floor, igniting it.

Several smallpox patients, who necessitated the disinfecting, were hurried to another part of the hospital. The fire burned a hole in the floor and a portion of the woodwork, causing $25 damage.

While making the run to the fire the wagon of company No. 2 turned over at Sixth and Kentucky streets, smashing one wheel and partially demolishing the seat. Harry Wagner, a fireman, sustained a slight injury to one of his limbs.

CRIME OF A CRAZED GIRL

SHE FATALLY WOUNDS FEMALE FRIEND AND THEN AT-TEMPTS SUICIDE.

A MAN HAD COME BETWEEN THE COUPLE

Life Not Worth Living After She Was Displaced—Leaves Directions That Her Body Be Cremated.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Crazed by the belief that the affections of the girl upon whom she had bestowed her love were being diverted to a man, Miss Anna Rubinowitch, 715 West Thirtieth street, shot and fatally wounded the object of her unusual devotion Sunday, and then attempted suicide.

The victim is Miss Bertha Yablowsky, and the scene of the tragedy was the home of her uncle, Max Zucker-man, 537 Winchester avenue, with whom she made her home.

At 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Miss Rubinowitch went to the Zucker-man home and asked to see Miss Yablowsky. They had been intimate friends for years and Miss Rubinowitch was readily admitted.

Miss Yablowsky was still in bed and Miss Rubinowitch went to her room and closed the door.

The girls conversed only a few moments, when Miss Rubinowitch drew a revolver from the folds of her dress and shot Miss Yablowsky through the right lung as she lay in bed. She died at 3 p. m.

A moment later a second shot rang out and Miss Rubinowitch sank to the floor with a bullet hole also through her right lung. She was taken to the county hospital, where, in a disconnected manner, she made a statement to the police. It is believed she will recover. In the event of death she asked to be cremated.

COMPROMISE NOT LIKELY

Nothing New in Lieutenant Governor-ship Contest.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 11.—The solution of the contest between Gmelich and Painter for lieutenant governor seems no nearer a solution than it has been since the election.

The bipartisan committee of the joint assembly has not come anywhere near reaching an agreement. They are as far from it today as when first appointed, and it may be many days before anything is done by the legislature, for until this matter is settled nothing can legally be done by either body.

It looks now as if no compromise can be made, and that it will finally be settled by a vote of the joint assembly, members voting on party line.

This, unless some democrats are unseated in the house, will result in the choice of Painter.

GOD IN THE EARTHQUAKE.

Perhaps the most interesting and significant feature of the many sided discussion of the relation of the Almighty to the recent catastrophe in Sicily and Calabria is the tendency of the ministers of all denominations, as well as the Jewish rabbi, to temper their hitherto rigid theology with sentiment, and by inference to declare the record of Scripture on similar events to be erroneous, says the St. Louis Star. It shows a remarkable change in theological views within so short a time as even the present generation. The keynote is that God is love and could not possibly voluntarily and purposely bring suffering and horror upon His creatures as a punishment for sin or in a spirit of anger.

Accepting this view, it follows that those many records in the Scriptures of God's wrath visited upon man, including the great flood of Noah's time, must be untrue, in so far as they ascribe to God a direct agency in the matter.

Indeed, one Protestant minister gets almost squarely upon the same ground as the late Robert G. Ingersoll, when he declares that the God of the Old Testament, the Jehovah of the Israelites, is not the real God, but only the Israelitish idea of God held in those ancient times. This was the idea held and expressed so eloquently by Ingersoll that God is at all times the highest expression of man's thought, and, therefore, changes in His attributes and character as man progresses toward higher things. In common with other nations of the age, the Israelites were a nation of war and blood. In their progress toward and occupation of the Land of Promise they overcome, drove out and annihilated other nations or tribes, and naturally their God was one who proved of and participated in such deeds. Gradually this idea changed as the nation itself changed, until at the time of Christ there had long since ceased to be recorded the harrowing tales of God's wrath, as well as the more pleasant ones of more beneficent interference in mundane affairs.

Nevertheless, hard and unyielding theology has until late years held as literally true the Biblical record of God's dealings with men, and those who have protested their cruelty and inconsistency and unworthiness of a God at once all-wise, all-powerful and all-loving, have been condemned as heretics and infidels. Yet they simply did in their day what these theologians are now doing. They merely used their reason and sentiment in defining the attributes of God and in rejecting the terrible character given Him in the ancient records. The orthodox and Jewish theologians seem to be getting upon a common ground with the Free Thinkers, the Universalists and the many formerly cast out as infidels.

All this seems to mark a wonderful advance in theology and the basis of it, both reason and sentiment being used instead of blind belief in the verbal inspiration of the ancient records. This seems to point the way toward that future time when all men shall be of one mind about God and their relations with Him, and all knees shall bend.

FREE TRADE WITH CANADA.

Whenever a revision of the tariff is attempted it can rationally begin by admitting Canada into complete equality with ourselves in the same market. The line across North America is more absolutely senseless than any other. The "pauper labor" and other arguments here all fail. The two populations run together, are closely alike and work under similar conditions.

The New Yorker trades to the south absolutely without restraint; to the north he is restricted by the great "system." The men of 1776 tried hard to force Canada to join in the revolt. Imagine the calamity if they had succeeded and had brought Canada inside of our constitutional prohibition of import duties between members of the confederation.

The fact that the Dominion is still in some sense subject to Great Britain is only an historical accident. Why, asks the New York Herald, should the two states try to keep apart by taxation and imagine that they can prosper in that way better than they could by coalescing economically?

There are in the Dominion great stores of coal, lumber and metals which we need and could use. They are shut away from us by taxes which are a derision of common sense. If we ever take up the tariff determined to serve our interest rationally we shall brush away all these hindrances and leave individuals to produce and trade as they see fit.

The same argument applies equally to all other parts of America. Nearly all of it is inferior to ourselves in economic development and industrial power. It is a grand market which we have renounced in our attempt to get our "system" complete against Europe.

We went to war with Spain in 1898 and were drawn on to dream of Oriental trade. We are spending millions to try to get it and to build a navy with which to defend it. There is more and better trade to be had with Canada, without expense, by repealing taxes.

This country has about one-fourth of the aggregate foreign trade of the South American republics. In the year 1907 it aggregated $2,100,000,000. Europe gets three-fourths of this trade. Mr. Barrett, chief of the bureau of American republics, suggests that in order to compete with Europe we must establish better mail and passenger service on both Atlantic and Pacific sides, as well as to secure inter-banking facilities and send as commercial travelers refined and tactful men who can speak Spanish fluently. This is no doubt well and indispensable, but Mr. Barrett has failed to indicate the most important step, which will be the repeal of our repellant tariff and navigation laws. It is folly to expect to sell in markets where we refuse to buy.

In a federal court in Portland, Me., a grand jury has returned "not a true bill" in an indictment of a local company as a sardine trust, violating the laws. This corporation, it appears, collects great quantities of the herring that swarm on the Maine coast, packs them in neat boxes in cotton seed oil and then, through the protection of the tariff, uses them to compete with sardines collected on the Sardinian coast of the Mediterranean. There is no infraction of the pure food law—the little herrings are not adulterated—and the Maine merchants are acting in strict accordance with the tariff law, which enables them to foist an inferior and spurious article on the public.

Of course no one will suspect that the agitation of the gas question has anything at all to do with the fine quality of the gas now being furnished the patrons of the local gas company. We say fine because it is fine in comparison to that furnished a short time ago.

Death of James Johnson.

James Johnson, colored, son of Ben Johnson, died from lung trouble at his home, on North Osage avenue, at 2:10 o'clock this morning, aged 22 years. Funeral services will be conducted at the Morgan street Baptist church tomorrow morning and burial will be made four miles west of town.

A MEETING OF ELECTORS

THOSE WHO STOOD FOR MR. TAFT MET IN THE DIFFERENT STATES TODAY.

BE CANVASSED BY CONGRESS NEXT MONTH

The Principal Business Before Today's Sessions of the State Electors Was Selection of Messengers.

Washington, Jan. 11.—William Howard Taft was elected president of the United States today by the electors who gathered today in the capital cities of the various states to cast their votes for president and vice president.

Although the returns will not be canvassed by congress until next month, it is confidently anticipated that Taft and Sherman have been successful in today's election.

The principal business before today's session of the state electors was the selection of messengers to carry the news to Washington. Each state selects such a messenger, and in most of them there have been many candidates for such honor.

According to the law, the state electors, at today's sessions, will elect their own organization, select their own presiding officer and tellers, cast their votes and select from their number a messenger to carry a copy of the result of their vote to be delivered to the speaker of the house of representatives. Two more copies will be forwarded by mail, according to the constitution of the United States. Congress having received all the electoral votes from all the states, passes on the result.

In theory, these electors are free to choose whom they please—and this was designed to be the case by the makers of the constitution—but in practice they vote for the candidate nominated by the party whose ticket they represent. This they do, not in obedience to law, but to party pledge and custom, and in American history there ever has been a case where this custom and party pledge was violated.

As they are pledged, and it is known to whom they are pledged, there is no uncertainty about the result, which is merely a formal ratification of a choice by the people. Certified copies of the returns of these electoral colleges are then sent to Washington, are there turned over to the president of the senate on the first Wednesday in February, in the presence of the senate and the house sitting jointly, and there counted. As this is merely the official count of the vote, already counted informally and known, this is a mere formality.

There are some other interesting facts connected with the election of a president that are not generally known. Men holding places under the government are not permitted to act as electors. In 1837 it was discovered after the electors were appointed that North Carolina, New Hampshire and Connecticut had selected electors who were deputy postmasters. A congressional committee, headed by Henry Clay, held that their votes must be rejected. It happened that Van Buren was elected regardless of these votes, but it might easily happen in a close election that some mischance would defeat the will of the states. Also, the constitution requires that the electors shall meet on the same day. In 1857 a snow storm kept the

Thus, while in part the electoral representation is based on population, because there is one elector for each congressman, in part it is based on "state's rights," because there is an elector for each senator, and each state has two senators, regardless of its size.

ELECTION OF A SENATOR

THE BIGGEST THING CONNECTING REPUBLICANS ARE TO WRESTLE WITH.

PROBABLY BE CAUCAS TOMORROW-NIGHT

Looks Fairly Good for Frank B. Brandegee, Who is Serving Out the Unexpired Term of the Late Senator Platt.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 11.—It is probable that a republican caucus will be held tomorrow to decide the Connecticut senatorial situation. Frank B. Brandegee, who is serving out the unexpired term of the late Senator Orville H. Platt, is now a candidate for the full term of six years, and his prospects of success are bright. His principal opponent is Congressman B. J. Hill. The vote on senator will be taken a week from tomorrow.

A majority of the old organization is working for Brandegee, but his forces are divided, for Hill has with him such men as O. R. Fyler, one of the railroad commissioners and an old war horse; J. Henry Roraback, Samuel A. Eddy and Charles Hopkins Clark. With Mr. Brandegee are State Committee Chairman Michael Kenaley, Sheriff Hawley, of Fairfield county, and others equally as well trained in the ways of politics.

Congressman B. J. Hill and those who, with him, claim that his services in the house entitle him to promotion to the senate, have put forward as one of the objections to the return of Mr. Brandegee that he placed himself in opposition to one of Mr. Taft's Pet measures, a free or freer tariff between the states and the Philippines.

This argument is more likely to benefit Mr. Brandegee than Mr. Hill. One of the chief items in this measure was a proposed reduction in the tariff on tobacco suitable for cigar wrappers from $1.80 a pound to 50 cents, and in opposing this Senator Brandegee represented the sentiment in Connecticut, which is a large grower of wrapper tobacco. Meetings of tobacco growers were held at that time and since have uniformly endorsed the attitude of Senator Brandegee on this question and these men are an important element in Connecticut politics. The argument that Senator Brandegee would be out of harmony with President Taft on this matter in the next congress does not appeal to them.

There is also hearty approval here

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Need for More Revenue.
With a view to raising more revenue the message says: "This additional revenue can be secured in one of three ways: First, we can change the rate of taxation, which is fixed by our constitution at not to exceed 15 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, so long as the total assessed value of property subject to taxation exceeds $900,000,000. To change the tax rate, would, of course, require a constitutional amendment, and that would take two years, and we need more revenue, and need it now. Another method would be to require, under such penalties as to secure obedience, the return and assessment of all property at its full, cash or market value.

Another method for increasing the revenues of the state is to increase the subjects or sources of taxation for state purposes. I suggest the following additional sources or subjects of taxation upon which it would, in my opinion, be proper to impose a tax for state purposes: The capital stock of corporations; inheritances; the inspection of spirituous liquors; a license tax against distillers and wholesalers of spirituous liquors, as well as drug stores which engage in the sale of the of Senator Brandegee's attitude in the matter of the preservation of the forests. There has been no question of importance before the senate since Mr. Brandegee has been a member of it that he has approached in a manner that did not have the approval and sympathy of the people of this state.

It is realized, too, that four years is a short time for a young man to acquire a commanding position in the senate, and while it is admitted that Mr. Brandegee has not yet become one of the leaders of that body it is recognized that he has been steadily growing in influence. It is urged in his behalf that if he is re-elected he will receive in the next congress some important committee appointment, a probable one being a place on the judiciary committee. This is a recognition that no new man would get. It indicates his growing importance.

RACING MAY BE REVIVED

HOT SPRINGS IS ANXIOUS FOR LEGISLATURE TO GRANT THE REQUEST.

FINANCES OF THE STATE ARE VERY LOW

Business Men's League and a Majority of the Citizens of Garland County Favor Revival of the Racing Sport.

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 11.—A special dispensation permitting race track gambling in Garland county, which would result in a revival of the racing game at Oaklawn park, Hot Springs, may be granted by the Arkansas legislature during the session commenced today.

The finances of the state are now very low, and it is likely that a large increase may be made in the assessed valuation of property in the state, which would bring considerable more money in the way of taxes to the state treasury.

Governor Donaghey has asked the legislature to appropriate $50,000 to aid the state in fighting the suits instituted by the railroads, and it is likely that a determined legal battle will be entered upon in the attempt to force the common carriers to obey the state law.

The text of the bill to restore racing at Hot Springs, which is favored by the Business Men's league and a majority of the citizens of the famous resort, is as follows:

"To except Garland county from the operation of the bill as to wagers or bookmaking. Permit racing on tracks under auspices of responsible organizations, not to exceed fifty days in any one year, nor three days in any one week. Provide for a county racing commission, composed of three reputable citizens and real estate owners, to be appointed by the governor. The jurisdiction of this commission to be restricted to the matter of protecting the public against fraudulent racing, with power to punish offenders or suppress the game. Said commissioners to become county officers and to draw their salaries from the county treasurer. Provide for a license tax of $100 a day on racing associations for every day of racing, to be collected by the county."

A poll of citizens in Garland county, in which Hot Springs is located, shows that out of 671 who were asked to express their preference 576 came out in favor of the sport and the passage of the above measure.

the mining town. A small cloud of smoke emerging from the shaft was the only indication that anything had gone wrong. This was seen by the engineer, who summoned men to investigate, and the discovery of the nineteen victims followed. The interior of the mine was not damaged.

Cause of the Explosion.
Dunquin, Ill., Jan. 11.—With the recovery of additional bodies during the night, it is thought that all of the victims of Sunday's explosion at the Leiter coal mine in Zeigler have been accounted for.

Four victims are negroes, four are Americans and fifteen are foreigners. The most widely accepted theory regarding the explosion regards it as the result of fire damp coming in contact with a spark from the electric trolley.

In the large cities of the state there have been established a large number of clubs, known as "Lid clubs," which exist largely for the purpose of dispensing intoxicating liquors on Sundays. These clubs are usually protected by a decree of incorporation under the provisions of Section 1294, R. S. 1899, as literary, scientific or athletic organizations. At these clubs liquor is furnished to the members, and also to visitors, and the law against the sale of intoxicating liquors upon Sundays is thus made inoperative, and an injustice is done to the licensed saloon keeper who obeys the law. Legislation should be enacted to meet this situation, and, in my opinion, every club, of any character, which dispenses intoxicating liquors to its members, should be required to pay a license to the state.

Ward Local Option.

"The question of a ward or residential local option law will also be a question which will come before you for consideration and action. It is my opinion that it would be more advisable to confer upon residence dis-

HAD QUIT WORK READY TO GIVE UP IN DESPAIR

Restored to Health By Vinol

"I was sick, run-down and finally had to give up work. After trying a number of remedies and several physicians, I was just about ready to give up in despair. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and it has done more good for me than all other means combined. It has built me up and restored my strength until I now feel twenty years younger, and am able to attend to my work again as usual." Job Jeavons, 1036 Lind street, Wheeling, W. Va.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains tonic iron and all of the strengthening blood-making and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil. Vinol is unexcelled as a strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness—and is the best known remedy for coughs, colds and bronchitis. tricts the right to exclude or to refuse to permit saloons to do business therein than to attempt to exercise this right within the arbitrary divisions of a city by wards. The wards of a city are created by its local legislative assembly, and are usually subject to change with few formalities and with limited notice. Certain parts of a ward may be the proper habitat of the dramshop, while other portions of the same ward may be entirely unsuited therefor. My observation and investigation has led me to the opinion that laws providing for ward or precinct local option have proven unsatisfactory and ineffectual, while, on the other hand, a system of residential local option will, in my opinion, produce results both satisfactory and effective."

Stands for Law Enforcement.

The governor says there will be no backward step on his part regarding the enforcement of all laws. He stands for honest elections and favors the enactment of a law by which the election machinery of the state may be placed in charge of bi-partisan boards, evenly divided between the two political parties, as are now the judges and clerks of elections.

Open Ballot Boxes.

The message recommends changes in the primary election law, and says: "And particularly should our laws be so amended as to aid in the detection and the punishment of election frauds, and the secrecy of the ballot should never be made paramount to its honesty and fairness. If this result can be accomplished only by an amendment to the constitution, that amendment should be submitted and adopted. The inconvenience or embarrassment that may occur to a few by having disclosed the manner in which they voted will be more than counterbalanced by the greater benefit that will accrue to the entire community in preventing men from securing nominations or office by fraud and crimes against the ballot."

Senatorial Primary Law.

The message favors the nomination of candidates for the United States senate before the general election, and says: "Under the present law, the members of a political party of one city may give to a certain candidate for United States senator sufficient votes to bring about his nomination, although he should fail to carry, or even receive a single vote in any legislative district in the state outside of that city. In addition to its unconstitutionality and unfairness, this law also prevents the people from knowing at the time they vote for the members of the legislature, whom the members of the legislature will favor for United States senator."

Public Service Corporations.

Under this head the message says: "I have become convinced, and I think all who have given any thought and study to this question are convinced, that the regulation of the business of public service corporations can be most satisfactorily and successfully accomplished by a commission composed of men trained and experienced by study and investigation and qualified by natural ability for such work. The chances of securing such a board to deal with the question of the regulation of the charges and the conduct of the business of public service corporations are much better, in my opinion, if the board is made appointive instead of elective."

Regarding the issuance of railway passes, the message says: "I ask, therefore, that you enact such a law as will secure the final abandonment of this corrupting practice."

Rights of Corporations.

Under this head the message says: "Before leaving this subject of the regulation of the charges or the conduct of the business of public service corporations, I wish to urge upon you the necessity of conservatism in the consideration and enactment of such legislation. While it is both the right and the duty of the state to regulate public service corporations in such a way as to secure fair rates and a proper service for the people, such laws should not be enacted merely because the power exists to enact and enforce them. And the right of business enterprises to be free from the burden and the expense of state regulation and control should be recognized and respected, unless the conditions therein clearly justify the state in the supervision or regulation thereof. And it is never fair or advisable to exercise this right unless it is reasonably certain that the act of regulation will not deprive the owners of the property of a reasonable return upon the value of their investment."

Combinations and Trusts.

Of the combinations and trusts Gov. Hadley says: "Assuming this power of regulation to exist, I believe that it would be advisable to give to the representatives of the state the discretionary power to institute proceedings for the purpose of regulating the charges and the conduct of a business which is in effect a monopoly or impressed with a public use, or to proceed in the courts to punish and suppress it."

Our Educational Facilities.

Along this line the message has the following: "While I claim no special knowledge or experience in matters of education, I do feel that the effectiveness of the common schools of the state must be raised if we are to make any substantial progress in the correction of the present unsatisfactory conditions. But, on the other hand, our higher educational institutions should not be neglected or dealt with in a spirit of parsimony or false economy. The value and importance of the work of these institutions can not be measured in dollars and cents."

Need for More Revenue.

With a view to raising more revenue the message says: "This additional revenue can be secured in one of three ways: First, we can change the rate of taxation, which is fixed by our constitution at not to exceed 15 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, so long as the total assessed value of property subject to taxation exceeds $900,000,000. SEDALIA THEATER.

Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin"

At the Sedalia theatre tomorrow, matinee and night.

They have all the accessories for producing the play in the most approved style, and are highly successful in pleasing their audiences. The company has a double band orchestra composed of white and colored musicians; Eva and her pony, "Prince;" the Lone Star quartette and the African Mandolin players, not excluding a pack of savage locking blood hounds.

On account of the mid-week matinee, the curtain will be held until 3:30 so as to enable the school children to attend.

"The Wolf" at the Sedalia Theatre.

That great play, "The Wolf," which has just finished in setting all Chicago afire with enthusiasm, will be presented here by the Messrs. Sam S. and Lee Shubert Wednesday evening, with one of the best casts possible to get together, with the same elaborate scenic environment and gorgeous light effects as seen both in New York and Chicago.

Our local management looks upon this engagement as being one of, if not the real one, theatrical events of its fair to presume an extremely large and fashionable audience will witness this performance. This presumption is made from the many comments heard of the coming of this great play, the unusually large requests for seats in advance, the many favorable reports as to the merits of the play, and its phenomenal business it enjoyed during its long run in Chicago.

The Messrs. Shubert have spared no expense in any way, and it is their intention and desire to give the same performance in the smaller towns as is given in the big cities. They have some thirty or more attractions touring the country, consequently the name of Shubert is a guarantee of the best theatrical market affords.

"Janey."

Among the new products this season may be classed a highly successful play entitled "Janey," which will be seen at the Sedalia theatre Thursday night. The management has left no stone unturned to make the production as perfect as possible, and Miss Hilda Thomas and Lou Hall, who were stars for the past four years in B. C. Whitney's musical shows have been engaged for the leading comedy roles in "Janey," and parts assumed by Thomas and Hall will give these artists an opportunity to display their versatility. The comedy is interspersed by many good musical numbers and an entire regular company of much merit will support the stars. "Janey" is a most picturesque and a most interesting farcical comedy, most realistically staged and every one who wants to get away from the ever beaten path drama and see a new stage creation and enjoy an evening of real delight should go and see "Janey."

IS RECIPE OF FAMOUS CHEF.

New Salad That Has Caught Popular Fancy in New York.

For several years there has been served at the Waldorf-Astoria a salad called the Waldorf salad, which was a joy to the appetite of the bon vivant, but a new salad has been introduced that eclipses it. It is called the Salad Astoria. Not only is it a joy to the appetite, but so attractively put together in its mosaic arrangement of colors that one hesitates to demolish it. Once broken and served it proves so delicious that every woman who partakes of it at once determines to learn how to make one just like it at home.

Oscar says it is the simplest and most healthful of luncheon salads. It is made by splitting a head of romaine salad lengthways, laying one-half on a plate with the heart side up, then closely placing alternate quarters of orange, grape fruit and Bartlett pears on the romaine until it is fully covered, finishing off each end with half of a pickled walnut, decorating the top with tiny strips of green and red peppers, making it look as if tied with narrow ribbons. Then, last of all, pouring over the whole a dainty French dressing and serving.—New York Press.

USED ROCKS AND KNIVES

One May Die, While Other Is in Serious Condition.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 11.—Remembering for three years that his fellow practitioner preferred charges against him before these state medical board, Dr. J. E. Hutchins, practicing physician of Benton, Tenn., yesterday morning, without warning, probably fatally stabbed Dr. Spence McClary, who, in turn, seriously wounded his assailant.

The two men met in front of a hotel. Some words passed when suddenly McClary was seen to jump to the middle of the street and pick up a rock. Before McClary could straighten Hutchins had struck him with a rock.

Before McClary recovered from the blow of the rock Hutchins had stabbed him in three places. McClary then summoned all his strength and made for his assailant, falling back senseless only after he had inflicted a wound that may prove fatal to Hutchins.

Explosion Wrecks Pumps and Engines of Kansas Gas Company.

Neodesha, Kas., Jan. 11.—At 2 o'clock Sunday morning an explosion at the gas pumping station of the Kansas Natural Gas company, six miles east of Neodesha, put the pumps out of commission, wrecked the station, and seriously burned Wallace Day, the foreman.

Mr. Day and Joe Kellerman were in the room when the explosion occurred, both being blown out. Mr. Kellerman was not seriously injured.

The explosion is thought to have been caused by gas escaping from the pumps on account of the melting of some babbling. The gas filled the room and was ignited from the engines.

FARMERS' UNION FAILS

IN CO-OPERATIVE METHODS OF BUYING MERCHANDISE IN MISSISSIPPI.

NO CONSIDERABLE SAVING EFFECTED

Many Delegates Will Urge That the Agency Be Abandoned—Sessions Be Held Behind Closed Doors.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 11.—That co-operative methods of buying merchandise, undertaken by the Mississippi branch of the Farmers' union, have proven a failure, is the admission of many delegates to the annual convention of the union, opened here today. It is asserted that the business agency of the union, through which many farmers purchase supplies direct from manufacturers and jobbers, has not effected any considerable saving. Many delegates will urge that the agency be abandoned and that members of the union hereafter deal with local merchants and thus secure their support in the work of the organization.

Another matter that will probably come before the convention is the attempt of the negro farmers of Mississippi to form a union similar to that of the white planters. This project is frowned upon by a majority of the delegates to today's convention, who favor the drawing of the color line.

All the sessions are to be behind closed doors, but it is admitted that the movement to abolish the co-operative merchandising method now in operation may result in a row.

At the last annual meeting an attempt was made to abolish the business agency, and it precipitated a very lively fight on the floor of the convention, the advocates of the agency being finally victorious. This year, according to report, the opponents of the agency have greatly strengthened their forces, and are determined to have the agency abolished. The chief argument they will advance in favor of the action is that the growth of the Farmers' union in this state has reached a point where it is absolutely necessary to keep in favor and good standing with the business interests, especially the bankers and merchants; that it is impossible to expect co-operation and support from the latter while the state business agency is endeavoring to undersell them on staples and commodities consumed by the farmers; that the practical value of enlisting the co-operation of the business interests has been conclusively shown by the pleasant business relations now existing with the Mississippi Bankers' association, nearly every bank in the state accepting cotton certificates from Farmers' union warehouses as negotiable instruments, and making liberal advances on cotton held in storage, thus strengthening the holding movement.

There are many members who contend that the business agency has been of doubtful value in enabling farmers to purchase supplies at prices lower than those offered by local dealers, and furthermore, that money thus expended for supplies is, in many instances, sent out of the state never to return, and if expended with local merchants, a portion of it, at least, would remain in the community.

There have been no charges of any character concerning the matter in which the business agency has been conducted. It is generally conceded that it has been operated in the best manner possible under the circumstances, and the chief reason why some members want it abolished is that it has resulted in a spirit of antagonism manifested by the business interests.

As there are about five hundred delegates in attendance at the annual convention of the Farmers' union, the discussion of this subject will doubtless be a very lively one, although it will take place behind closed doors.

The convention will have a goodly number of other subjects to be brought up for discussion. The relation of the boll weevil to crop plans for the coming year, the extent of acreage, use of fertilizers, relations between the banks and the farmers, etc., are among the topics that will be brought before the body.

So far as known, there will be no opposition to the re-election of any of the leading officers of the organization. It is generally conceded that President G. R. Hightower and Secretary G. W. Russell will be re-elected by acclamation. There may be a few changes, however, in the personnel of the executive committee, and the state lecture bureau.

MEET OF LABOR LEADERS

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR.

JAIL SENTENCE HANGING OVER THREE

Resolutions From 30,000 Councils and 2,000,000 Members Will Be Submitted at Session in Washington, D. C.

Washington, Jan. 11.—What is likely to be the most important session ever held by the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor was convened here today. With jail sentences hanging over the three leaders of the Federation, Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, vital issues affecting the organized laborers of the country are up for discussion. Resolutions sustaining the attitude of the leaders of the big organization, with its 30,000 odd councils and 2,000,000 members, will be submitted, and the policy of the Federation, in view of the court's action and scathing arraignment carried in the decision, will be outlined.

"Secretary Morrison, one of the convicted men, discussed the case in the following manner:

"We propose to exhaust every effort to sustain our right to a free speech and a free press. I am confident that the position taken by the Federation is right, and that the people of this country will ratify this attitude. I believe they will give the trades unionists the same rights and privileges that are being accorded to trades unionists in Great Britain—as provided for by the trades dispute act adopted there two years ago. Mr. Gompers referred to that act in his speech to the court. Under the act a union can not be mulcted in damages on account of a strike.

"It seems," said Mr. Morrison, "that in the District of Columbia there is really no limit to the sentence that can be imposed for contempt of court. In a great many states there is a limit. In New York, for instance, six months is the maximum.

"We propose," he added, "to exhaust every effort to sustain our right to a free press and a free speech. I believe and I am confident that the position taken by the Federation is right, and that the citizens of this country will ratify the attitude of the Federation in this matter."

It will probably be two years before it is finally decided in the United States supreme court whether President Samuel Gompers, Vice President John Mitchell and Secretary Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, are to be jailed for contempt of court.

It will be next May or June at the earliest before the District court of appeals passes on the case, and it may go over until fall. Another year would probably be required for the federal supreme court to act. This makes it clear that President Roosevelt will have no chance to pardon Gompers and the other labor leaders.

It will be up to Mr. Taft to say whether there shall be a pardon if the higher courts sustain Justice Wright.

One point that will be made before the court of appeals is that the law for punishment of contempt in no states provides a more severe penalty than six months in jail. Here there is no law on this point, and it will be contended that the judge arbitrarily fixed an unusually severe punishment in the case of Gompers and Mitchell.

The case will go to the court of appeals practically as a retrial of the whole proceedings relative to the violation of the injunction.

GREAT LABOR SAVER

GET PAIR OF SCISSORS FOR USE IN KITCHEN.

Better Than Knife for Cutting Up Vegetables or Even Meats—Easily Dispose of Chicken Joints and Lobster Shells.

If you want to see a pair of scissors put to all sorts of queer uses just watch some young housekeeper getting vegetables ready for dinner or preparing a salad. It is declared that in nine cases out of every ten things can be cut better with the scissors than with a knife.

Especially in the preparing of salads should the kitchen scissors appeal to the housekeeper looking for labor-saving schemes. Dicing apples and celery is a matter of only a moment when done in this way, and a few green peppers may be snipped up in less time than it takes to tell about it.

The easiest way to dice green peppers is to cut off several long slivers the whole length of the pepper. Hold these firmly in one hand and with the scissors clip through the entire bunch. Several stalks of asparagus may be clipped through in the same way.

For hollowing out a tomato previous to stuffing, a pair of scissors enables one to remove practically all the pulp without breaking through the skin.
For fruit salads scissors are equally useful, as the fine skin which separates the sections of grape fruit and oranges is easily clipped off in this way.

But fruit and vegetable salads are not the only kinds for which the kitchen scissors may be brought into use. Cold boiled chicken and lobster are easily cut into pieces, and, surprising as it may seem to those who haven't tried it, chicken joints and lobster shells are no obstacles when scissors are used.

The hard parts of oysters and clams are neatly removed with a pair of scissors, and slices of cold tongue and ham are often much improved in appearance if, before sending to table, they are trimmed into shape in the same way.

When it comes to preparing cold vegetables for reheating in cream sauce, or for the many popular dishes au gratin, the kitchen scissors are again a blessing. Cold boiled potatoes, cauliflower, asparagus, oyster plant, in fact any and every vegetable, may easily be snipped into pieces of the required size. Doing such work with a pair of scissors is not only much quicker and easier, but the saving of one's hands is important. No woman will believe until she tries for herself how great a labor saver a pair of scissors may prove in her kitchen.

Washing Curtains.

To wash white lace curtains first shake the curtains free from all dust, then lay in cold water to loosen the dirt. When the water is quite brown looking squeeze out the curtains and place in a bath of warm soapsuds. If the water is hard add borax or ammonia. Wash with the hands (not board) until clean, then wring and cover with boiling, soapy water. Allow them to remain in it 15 minutes, then squeeze out and rinse in clear water first, then in water slightly blued. While the curtains are being soaked the starch may be made. This should be mixed with boiling water and stirred smooth, in order to free it from lumps.
Then the curtains are thoroughly saturated with the starch and put on curtain stretchers or pinned out on a sheet placed on the floor.

THE MISSOURI FARMER

PAST WEEK.

ATTENDANCE NOW IN EXCESS OF 1000

There Were Papers, Discussions and Addresses on Almost Every Subject of Interest to Tillers of Soil

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 11.—The Missouri farmers who were present at the "Farmers' Week" meeting held at Columbia last week under direction of the Missouri state board of agriculture is the only one who can properly appreciate the profit and pleasure that it is possible to get out of such a meeting. The attendance exceeded 1,000 and the men and women who came from the many Missouri farm homes with back better satisfied with their occupations, more enthusiastic as to their work and more hopeful for the future. Important as was the actual instruction to be had, the enthusiasm and the broader, better, brighter outlook which the visitor carried home is of vastly more importance. Then, this meeting is just the place for Missouri farmers to meet—the cotton grower, the or-chardist, the corn king, the stock raiser, the poultry fancier and men from all the widely separated districts of Missouri to get acquainted.
This meeting and exchange of ideas is an education within itself; then, there is the added value of friendships formed.

At the Farmers' week meeting the

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.
Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the constitutional.
The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr.
Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.
The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, causes nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

Apple Salad.

Apple salad is always palatable, but many housewives think it requires time and trouble to make.
One of the simplest ways of tossing one together at a moment's notice is to take tart hall apples, cut them up into tiny pieces and serve with water cress and French dressing.

This may not only be served for luncheon but is also delicious for a late supper or a simple dinner.

Grapes in Jelly.

Make a clear orange or lemon jelly and when about an inch of jelly has hardened in the mold lay in a very fine bunch of pink or purple grapes and pour on enough of the liquid jelly to almost cover. Set again on ice, and when this is firm add the rest of the jelly, which is kept warm on the back of the range. In serving place tiny bunches of sugared grapes about the edge of the mold.

men, swine breeders, horticulturalists, butter and cheese makers, road workers, bee keepers and home makers, were all represented, the various associations holding separate meetings, in addition to the large general meetings, which were participated in by many men of national reputation, including such eminent workers as Hon. W. H. Hays, assistant secretary United States department of agriculture; Dr. W. J. Spillman, of Washington, D. C.; Prof. C. A. Zavitz, of Guelph, Ont., and many others.

There was a feast of good things, and throughout the entire meeting the keynote was better things for the Missouri farmer and the Missouri farmers family. The home makers' conference was one of the very best things of the week's program. Among the speakers was Miss Martha Rensselaer, of the department of home economics, Cornell University, New York, who spoke on "What the State May Do for the Farmer's Wife." She declared that the greatest woman in all history is the Missouri farmer's wife who finds time to attend to the household duties and to bring up a family of boys and girls in the proper way. "Men and women," said Miss Van Rensselaer, "should work together for the conveniences of the farm home." She gave it as her opinion that the best right that can be given to a woman is to give her the intelligence that will make her an ideal wife and mother, for there is no higher calling given to a woman than to learn how to keep a home.
"Every dollar," said she, "that the Missouri legislature can be induced to give to betterment of homes will be well expended."

Rural school questions, with special reference to the teaching of agriculture, were discussed at length, and consolidation of districts urged by many in order that the country boy and girl may have educational advantages equal to those afforded the city child.

There were papers, discussions and addresses on almost every subject in which the Missouri farmer is interested. The program was, in so far as possible, a "show me" one, with demonstrations, stock and grain judging, dairy, apple and corn shows. Dr. J.
W. Conaway gave a demonstration of the methods of the control of hog cholera, after a talk on the control of the disease. This, like other features, is of vital interest to the Missouri farmers.

Missouri Farmers' week has become the big educational gathering of the year for Missouri farmers and its influence is far-reaching. Already Dean H. J. Waters, Secretary George B. Ellis and the officers of the various associations are planning for a still greater meeting next year.

Potatoes Molded with Parmesan.

Mash some potatoes very smooth and work into them a couple of well-beaten eggs. Put them into one of form. Smooth the surface, and then draw the back of a fork over it in equal directions and sprinkle some grated Parmesan over it. Put little bits of butter over it at equal distances, and bake in the oven till the potatoes are of a nice gold color.—

WEALTHY GAMBLER DEAD

Texan Was Accredited With Killing Noted Desperado.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 11.—William H. Simms, who is credited with firing the shot which killed the notorious desperado, Ben Thompson, former city marshal of Austin, died here yesterday morning as a result of an operation for appendicitis. Simms has been in the saloon and gambling business for many years and died a millionaire.

In the six-shooting days on the Texas frontier he was noted for his coolness and bravery. It was in his place of business that Thompson met his death, and it was asserted that Simms fired the fatal shot. He was also one of the participants in the fight in which King Fisher, another desperado, was killed. Both the killings occurred in this city.

For several years Simms has been one of the leading citizens of San Antonio, noted for his charity and public spirit. He leaves a widow.

Runs by the Fire Boys.

C. D. Prentice's two-room cottage, 709 North Quincy avenue, and contents, were destroyed by fire of unknown origin at 5:30 o'clock this morning, entailing a loss of $300, covered by insurance.

A burning fire at the home of Frank Leach, 417 West Seventh street, at 8:35 o'clock last night, necessitated a run by the department, but no damage resulted.

BURGLARS KILL MARSHAL

Also Shoot Son of the Clarence, Mo. Peace Officer.

Macon, Mo., Jan. 11.—In a fight with burglars early Sunday, Marshal H. B. Riekey, of Clarence, a town east of Macon, was shot and killed, and his son, Sam, was shot in the side of the face. Posses are searching for the burglars.

Riekey had located twelve suits of clothing the men had hidden, and with his son waited for the men. They opened fire on the marshal and his son, and Riekey returned the fire until he fell. He died today.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

GEORGE GOULD WILL NOT QUIT MISSOURI PACIFIC-IRON MOUNTAIN LINE.

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Regardless of reports that George J. Gould will be deposed as president of the Missouri Pacific and the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern, and will be succeeded by E. H. Harriman, it is believed that Mr. Gould will, as he says, remain at the head of that system, which is considered to be one of the best properties in the west, says a New York dispatch of the 9th inst.

Reports about Mr. Gould's probable retirement, voluntary or otherwise, have been flying thick and fast. Many financiers, brokers and investors believe them.

But those who are best informed say that it seems hardly possible that Mr. Gould could lose control of the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain. These are Mr. Gould's holding companies, and, if he lost control of them, he would lose control of all his railroads.

Mr. Gould probably would rather sell the International and Great Northern, which he owns personally, and the St. Louis Southwestern, which is owned by the Gould estate, in order to obtain funds, if he needed money, than to lose control of the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain. The fact seems to be that Mr. Gould will retain control of all of these properties.

There appears to be reason for the belief, however, that Mr. Gould is endeavoring to arrange plans to get more money for the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain, which money would be used in improvement work. Gould's Rio Grande system obtained money through a bond issue, and it is said that a somewhat similar financial plan is contemplated for the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain.

Should the Missouri Pacific and the Iron Mountain put bonds on the market, it is not unlikely that the securities would be handled jointly by Blair & Co., Mr. Gould's bankers, and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Mr. Harriman's bankers.

From reliable sources it is learned that Mr. Harriman did not obtain any interest in the Wheeling and Lake Erie recently. Mr. Harriman merely used his offices to get Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to come to the relief of this Gould line.

Engineer Goodwin's Condition.

The Democrat-Sentinel is in receipt of a postal card from Mrs. C. W. Goodwin, whose husband is a patient at the Missouri Pacific railway hospital at Kansas City as a result of being injured in the collision at Independence last week, stating that he is improving satisfactorily.

Mr. Goodwin sustained two fractured ribs, a badly bruised right shoulder and a severe scalp wound, in addition to many bruises about his body.

Three Excursion Trains.

SALOON THOUGHT NO. 60.

Why did the people vote the saloons out at the rate of 30 per day during the year 1908? Why are the people going this time?

Because the saloon sticks its nose into every election of state, county, city, township and ward officer. They have had a hand and many times anything but fair and honest methods in election of all the officers that they care to have elected.

They are corrupting every officer, court, judge, alderman, mayor, governor and every man they can.

They are being closed because only in a very instance does the bar belong to the man running it. They are most all owned today or have been until here lately by the brewers, a corporation miles away from where these men run their business, and the men who really own these saloons do not care what happens just as long as the place makes money for him. There are many reasons, but these are the principal ones.

A NEW MAN AT THE HELM

GOVERNOR-ELECT W. W. KITCHIN, WHO WILL SUCCEED GOVERNOR GLENN.

TO GUARANTEE STATE BANK DEPOSITS

This Plank Will Be Included in the Inaugural Address of the New Chief Executive of the Tar Heel State.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 11.—Governor-elect W. W. Kitchin, who will this week succeed Governor Glenn will include in his inaugural message an unqualified indorsement of a legislative measure to guarantee state bank deposits in North Carolina.

Governor Glenn and a number of other prominent party leaders, active in state government, are known to oppose decidedly such a course, their contention being that a lesson most forcibly taught by recent national and state election returns is that the people, to say the least, not ready for such an innovation. One of the sharpest contests in the present legislature is to be on this issue.

Governor Glenn, the retiring chief executive, has had a spectacular administration.

His fight with the federal courts in regard to the railroad rate law attracted national attention, and he was largely responsible for the passage of the prohibition law which made the "Tar Heel state" "dry" on the first of this year.

BRADY'S FAREWELL SERMON

Toledo Pastor Says Goodby to Members of Church.

The Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady, formerly pastor of Calvary Episcopal church in Sedalia, a famous playwright, author and pastor of Old Trinity, who recently accepted a call to St. George's Episcopal church at Kansas City, preached his farewell sermon in Toledo Sunday before a large and distinguished audience.

Mr. Brady had nothing but words of regret to express in leaving the Toledo pastorate. He was the recipient of many valuable gifts from the various organizations of the church, showing their appreciation of his work.

Rev. Mr. Brady resigned the Toledo pastorate because the Toledo church did not come under the rule of the canon laws. He and his family will leave for Kansas City this week.

"WORKED" BY NEWS AGENT

Detective Charges That Country Boy Was Short Changed.

Carthage, Mo., Jan. 11.—A "short change" swindle, alleged to have been worked by a news agent on the Missouri Pacific passenger train last afternoon between Nevada and this city, and which Edward Hanford, a detective of this city, says he witnessed, resulted in the arrest of the news agent, Charles Crook, of Kansas City, when the train arrived at Carthage. Hanford says the news agent "worked" Herbert Woodward, a country boy, who had just made a purchase. The boy should have received $16 in change, but only received $10.

Crook returned the $6. He was placed in jail to await the arrival of detectives of the Missouri Pacific railway.
